Mark, what can I say? I know that there was so much that you wanted to do with the rest of your life. All the things that we talked about that you wanted to make right. Just finding out how you truly felt about so many things made it easier to open myself up to you again. Knowing how proud you were of your son Ryan. The way your face lit up just to talk about him. The way you really loved your family for always trying to help you even when you didn't want to help yourself. The way you cherished the support of your friends even though you felt you didn't deserve it at times. Yes my friend, I knew what was really in your heart. Your actions at times hid that from those that loved you. But I seen it my friend, your true heart. That is why I will truly miss you brother. You will always be in my thoughts and my prayers Mark.
