We were saddened to hear of Aunt Marg's passing. We have many fond memories of the visits we shared with Marg which included our deceased mother (Lucille Steward) who was Margery's first cousin. We will remember her as a sweet, loving Christian lady and we feel blessed to have had her in our lives. Our sympathy is being sent from the entire family. Sincerely, Bev LaBombard and Janelle Soenksen

One of the greatest things about Margery is that she remained spiritually hungry up until the very end. She told me a few years ago that she felt like the LORD wanted her to learn to play the organ, even though she was so young. As a result, her heart was open to MORE from the LORD and she didn't block out new truth, even if it contradicted her traditions. She was always grateful for any visits or any interest, and always was so kind and humble. My life is richer for knowing her!
