It has been an honor to know you these last 9 years. I really didn't know what to expect when I became part of Sarah and Keagan's lives, but you (and your parents) made it so easy. You took me in as a brother and as the years past you showed the same love for Maren and Cael as you did for Keagan. Your smile and an always positive outlook was contagious. You are one of the best Michael and will truly be missed. Rest in peace Michael...Tom Schwarz

Loving heart and soul. Beautiful, contagious smile. Courageous, never letting the diabetes and it's nasty complications you fought nearly all your life drag you down. Keep smiling, Michael. Smile down on your parents, family and friends who grieve you deeply, assuring them that you are in a better place, free from pain and will meet up with them again one day. Smile with your amazing brother who you now walk with side-by-side. Smile as your grandparents and other friends lost along the way greet you at Heaven's gate. As sad as it makes me to see you go, I know your smile will live on in the lives of all those you touched in your short, difficult life here on earth. Though you never let on how difficult things were with your disease, for I truly think that you didn't realize how sick you really were, as it was just the way things have always been, and all you've ever known. You never complained. Instead, you just smiled and made other smile too. Rest in sweet peace Michael. Kim Kampling~Bennett
